S Voice

Fain would I change that note O Love! They wrong thee much

To which fond Love hath charm'd me that say thy fruit is bit - ter,

Long, long to When thy rich

sing by rote, Fancy - ing that that harm'd me:
fruit is such As no-thing that can be swe - eter

Yet when this thought doth come 'Love is the per - fect Fair house of joy and bliss, Where tru - est plea - sure sum Of all de - light!' I have no o - ther choice is, I do a - dore thee. I know thee what you art,

Ei - ther for pen or voice To sing or write I serve thee with my heart, And fall be - fore thee.
